KPMG Business Academy

Key learning benefits:

Improved understanding of the principles of effective Corporate Governance

Enhanced capabilities to embed culture of good governance within the organization

Ability to decode the Code of Corporate Governance for public listed companies in Oman

Course overview

The objective of this course is to provide you with insights to the Code of Corporate Governance, what it encompasses and how it is applied in organizations. This course aims to bridge the gap between various principles of governance and their applicability in the business environment.

During this course, you can expect to receive a distinct perspective into the Code of Corporate Governance. This can in turn help you develop your capabilities to embed the culture of good governance in your organization.

By analyzing various case studies, we hope it will become evident that an effective corporate governance can contribute to the success of any organization.

Who should attend

This course is primarily designed for business professionals who are responsible for embedding a culture of good governance in their respective organizations.

The course can be valuable to professionals whose responsibilities include direct interaction with governing bodies, such as Board and/or Audit Committee.

Although the code is mandatory to all publicly listed companies in Oman, we believe this course can also be beneficial to organizations seeking to improve their corporate governance.

The course will also be beneficial to individuals who wish to pursue their interest in the field of corporate governance or who aspire to become members of Board and/or Audit Committee.

Key differentiators

With 40+ years experience delivering advisory services, KPMG has developed its ability to devise a practical and relevant corporate governance course.

The course has been exclusively developed and will be delivered by KPMG professionals who have amassed considerable experience in training Directors of the Board and Audit Committees.
